Re: Updated guidance for tourism businesses and travelers for the implementation of Executive Order 2020-041

Dear Industry Stakeholders,

On June 12, 2020, Hon. Wanda Vázquez-Garced, Governor of Puerto Rico, signed into effect Executive Order 2020-044, which outlines the mandates put into effect to continue implementing a phased reopening of Puerto Rico's economy, while safeguarding the health and safety of the population amidst the COVID-19 global pandemic.

The Executive Order can be found in the Puerto Rico Department of State's website (www.estado.pr.gov).

What follows is a guide on the applicability of the Executive Order on specific tourism operations.

Overall Guidance on Tourism Operations: The Government of Puerto Rico is actively encouraging Island residents to vacation locally, while taking the necessary measures to safeguard the health of all. Tourism businesses and the Puerto Rico Tourism Company (PRTC) are encouraged to actively market the destination's ample cultural, natural and hospitality offering to residents for immediate demand generating efforts. Simultaneously, tourism businesses and Discover Puerto Rico (DPR) are encouraged to actively communicate that Puerto Rico will be ready to host visitors from abroad as of July 15, 2020. Government and private sector stakeholders should enact necessary operational reform to prepare destination assets, infrastructure and attractions to receive an influx of visitors as of the aforementioned date.

An official press release outlining essential information for travelers as it relates to the enactment of Executive Order 2020-044 can be found at the following link: <https://www.prnewswire.com/news-releases/puerto-rico-announces-it-will-be-open-for-travelers-on-july-15th-301079507.html>

Guidance for Travelers: While Executive 2020-030 remains in effect, enforcing a 14-day quarantine to all who arrive to Puerto Rico, The Government of Puerto Rico announced it is working on an exception to the mandatory 14-day quarantine for passengers arriving on or after July 15 that provide proof of a negative COVID-19 test. Executive 2020-030 is expected to be amended in the coming days to reflect these changes and provide further clarity on the guidelines for the applicability of this testing alternative.

An extract of Executive Order 2020-030, follows:

“Any passenger who after the enactment of this Order at the Luis Munoz Marin International Airport in a flight from the United States of America or any international destination shall be considered a person [as to whom there is] a reasonable suspicion that he or she was exposed to COVID-19 and shall remain under quarantine for a period of fourteen (14) days or for the duration of his or her stay in Puerto Rico, whichever is shorter. For purposes of the fourteen (14) day period, said period shall begin to run on the day the person arrives at the Airport, which shall be considered day one (1).

Any passenger who after the enactment of this Order arrives at the Airport in a flight from the United States of America or any international destination to carry out emergency response work, or critical infrastructure work, essential service and medical equipment repair, health professionals, flight crew, aviation mechanics, federal agents, on-duty military, and any other personnel timely determined by the Department of Health, shall be exempt from complying with the provisions included in the 1st and 2nd Section of this Order in terms of the quarantine, other than as established herein: (1) he or she shall fill out the appropriate form in terms of personal and contact information, for the appropriate follow-up and monitoring by the Department of Health; (2) he or she shall comply with all of the orders, instructions, protocols, and requests for information issued by the Department of Health, the National Guard, and any other governmental relevant government entity during the fourteen (14) days following his or her arrival.

Any hotel or place of lodging having any reservation from the enactment of this Order shall contact the person who made the reservation and inform the measures established in this Order. Similarly, to the extent possible, it shall send a digital copy of this Order, so that they can know firsthand and be informed ahead of time as to the measures that are being taken in Puerto Rico. Furthermore, the hotel or place of lodging shall be responsible for maintaining a copy of this Order in several places that are visible to the guests.”

Airports: On March 23, 2020, the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) approved a request of the Government of Puerto Rico to best implement measures and tools to control the international and domestic air traffic on the Island given the threat posed by COVID-19. From Tuesday, March 24, 2020, at 11:59 p.m., all passenger airline commercial flights may only land on the Luis Muñoz Marín International Airport (SJU/LMM), in order to focus and optimize the use of available resources and technology to sift through the passengers who arrive at the Island. The remaining airports on the Island remain closed for commercial travel. Adjustments in travel itineraries are at the discretion of each airline, in accordance with travel restrictions, as determined by the Government of the United States. Usual operations at the airport are not affected by the curfew. Passengers arriving or departing from the airports after curfew will be able to transit to and from their respective destinations. Retail operations inside the airport will be subject to the same regulations as those in the rest of the island. Restaurants inside the airport are allowed to open and serve patrons so long as distancing and protection measures for the health and safety of employees and guests are observed.

SJU/LMM, in collaboration with the Puerto Rico National Guard, is using advanced technology to automatically gauge incoming travelers' temperature and has staff on site to administer a quick health check-up to passengers arriving to the Island. Free and voluntary COVID-19 testing is also available on site. The airport has remained open and, unlike other Caribbean destinations, Puerto Rico has not closed its borders beyond federal travel restrictions that remain in effect.

Industry workforce: Curfew remains in effect during the hours of 10:00pm and 5:00am through June 30, 2020. Executive Order 2020-044 provides for employees that must transit, from their places of residence to their place of employment after curfew to be able to do so. We strongly recommend employers provide a certification to staff whose shifts extend past curfew which may be presented to law enforcement personnel, should its need arise.

Destination-Wide Health & Safety Program: All tourism businesses are required to comply with all guidelines published by the Puerto Rico Tourism Company (PRTC) at <https://prtc-covid19.com>. The PRTC's guidelines integrate all guidance published by the Center for Disease Control (CDC), the Department of Health and PROSHA to protect workforce and clients alike. Owners, general managers or directors of operations must sign the electronic acknowledgement form HERE prior to re-opening their businesses. Compliance with PRTC requirements does not liberate businesses from additional reporting or certification obligations required by PROSHA.

Outdoor Recreation: Recreational activities outdoors are allowed within authorized curfew times (from 5:00am to 10:00pm) with the use of masks when possible and with adequate physical distance (6 feet). Beaches, reserves and golf courses are now open for leisure recreation while observing safe distancing and protection measures. Please consult guidance published by the Department of Sports and Recreation for further clarification on the implementation of Executive Order 2020-044 as it relates to Sports & Outdoor Recreation, including specific dispositions related to Adventure Circuits or Zip Lines.
